D303 Parent University Presents Executive Functioning- Skills Needed in the Classroom and Beyond

November 18, 2016

Do any of these phrases describe your child?

- Can't get organized
- Runs out of time
- Waits until the last minute
- Gets stuck on an idea
- Difficulty shifting between activities
- Surprised by failure

These are all components of Executive Functioning. Learn about Executive Functioning, how it impacts your child, and what you, as a parent, can do to improve your child's Executive Functioning skills.

Join us for District 303 Parent University- Executive Functioning: Skills Needed in the Classroom and Beyond on Tuesday, December 6 at 6:30 p.m. in the Haines Middle School LRC, located at 305 S. 9th St. in St. Charles.

The session will be led by St. Charles North H.S. English Teacher Mr. Scott Von Essen, who has extensive experience with Executive Functioning skills in the classroom. This session will begin with a brief overview of Executive Functioning skills to be followed by breakout sessions that are specifically directed to the elementary, middle, and high school levels.

Due to space considerations, attendance is limited to the first 100 reservations, to RSVP visit www.d303.org
