North Student Wins National Silver Medal at Scholastic Art Competition

More than 80,000 students submitted nearly 230,000 works of art and writing to the 2020 Scholastic Awards. The work Contemplation by St. Charles North Junior, Natalie Lamb, was selected by some of the foremost leaders in the visual and literary arts for excellence in originality, technical skill, and the emergence of a personal voice or vision, earning her a National Silver Medal. Only 2,000 works received a National Medal, which places Natalie within the top 1% of all submissions.

Last semester, art students in Mrs. Dodd's class worked on a variety of projects that showed different skills, one of them being the Reflection and Shadows unit, which was Natalie's favorite.

"I had a crazy set up with this photoshoot," said Natalie. "I asked my brother to stand in my bathtub with a mirror in front of him while I poured water all over his face. In the end, I was able to capture some pretty cool pictures like Contemplation," she added.

With support from Mrs. Dodd who shared the information about the Scholastic Art Competition, Natalie submitted her final project to the competition.

"I was a little bit hesitant about submitting my photo because I didn't believe that I would get far into the competition. But to my surprise, it ended up winning a National Silver Medal!" she exclaimed.

Natalie's work will be published in the Scholastic Art Online Galleries at artandwriting.org in June. Her work will also be listed in the Yearbook 2021, a companion publication to The Best Teen Art and The Best Teen Writing anthologies which feature a selection of work by National Medalists.

Since 1923, the Awards have celebrated teen artists and writers from across the country. Natalie is now part of that legacy, joining the ranks of notable alumni, including Tschabalala Self, Stephen King, Kay WalkingStick, Charles White, Joyce Carol Oates, and Andy Warhol—all of whom won Scholastic Awards when they were teens.

For District 303 students, meeting new authors always brings great joy. Lulu Delacre's virtual presentation on March 23 and 24 was nothing short of amazing, especially because it was all in Spanish for Davis and Richmond K-5 students.

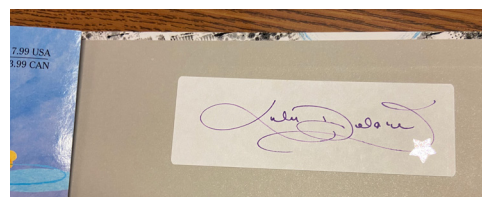

Students could not contain their excitement when she began her presentation in Spanish, holding up their books to the camera for her to see. As she shared stories about her childhood in Puerto Rico, she expressed how much she loved to draw since she was a little girl. This passion led her to study art in France, where she discovered picture books and her true calling for writing and illustrating. She also commented on how lucky students are since they can easily access books in English and Spanish, which helps them improve their reading, writing, and language skills.

During the presentation, students were curious to learn about her inspiration for the books and characters, what made her write books in Spanish, and if she had any tips for aspiring writers. She shared that her heritage and traditions inspire her books, which she hopes will help students from all backgrounds learn about Latin cultures and feel connected with the stories, whether they read them in English or Spanish.

As her presentation came to an end, she encouraged all students to view their life experiences as a story of their own which they can share through their art and writing. Each student received a copy of one of the author's books and a hand signed bookplate for their home library.

VOICES

OF DISTRICT 303

Hits the Airwaves

Nowadays, it seems like you can find podcasts hosted by authors, celebrities, business experts, and musicians. The conversations can take you back in time, tell you a story, or help you learn something new.

Dr. Pearson has launched Voices of District 303, a periodic podcast that tells the stories of the people and programs of District 303. We invite you to join Dr. Pearson for 30 minutes as he talks with staff members and students about what is happening in District 303. District-Wide March Book Madness 2021

During the month of March, District 303 remote and in-person elementary students participated in the first-ever district-wide book bracket: "March Book Madness 2021," in partnership with the Youth Services Department from the St. Charles Public Library.

Every day, students read and listened to books that were recorded by the elementary LRC directors and the Youth Services Librarians at the St. Charles Public Library. On a weekly basis, they used Google Forms to vote for their favorite of two books while eliminating books in a "bracket" style competition.

"This is the first time it's happening across all elementary buildings and we're excited to have all students participate," expressed Munhall LRC/Media Specialist, Mrs. Kaye. This fun tournament motivated students to find new and exciting books to read and to engage in thoughtful discussions with their peers about the characters, their stories, and the lessons highlighted in those books.

Some schools also hosted a spirit week to kick off the event in conjunction with Read Across America week, encouraging students to dress as their favorite characters or to wear crazy hats and fun clothing.

To everyone's excitement, the winner of the championship tournament was announced on March 25. With 1,451 votes, the book "All the Way to the Top" by Annette Bay Pimentel was named the winner of the March Book Madness 2021 competition.

Social-Emotional Resources for Families

In partnership with Riverview Counseling, District 303 has posted video resources that support the social emotional needs of families. The videos are found on the district website and cover topics such as supporting students with remote learning, strategies for structure and consistency, suicide prevention and awareness, and parent self-care.

Read Across America (to Georgia!)

Traditionally, Mrs. Dixon's class participates in NEA's Read Across America, a national celebration of reading. And this year, her remote 5th grade students had the opportunity to participate in this celebration by partnering with a 5th grade class from Parsons Elementary School in Suwanee, Georgia.

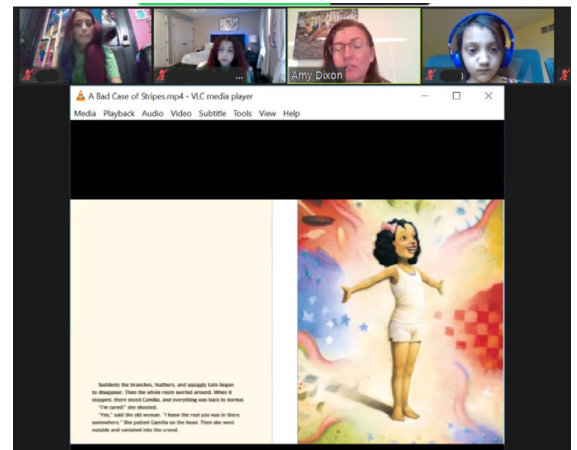

Before their connection, 5th graders participated in the kick off event on March 1 as presenters. Throughout the week, students prepared for their virtual connection with Mrs. Rogers' 5th grade class in Georgia on March 17.

Mrs. Britt, Parsons Elementary Media Specialist, first shared interesting facts and information about their school district and the many activities students can do like visit museums and aquariums. Then, Mrs. Dixon's students excitedly shared interesting facts about their school, their virtual classes, and all the fun things they like to do in St. Charles and Illinois. Students took turns reading out loud the book "A Bad Case of Stripes" by David Shannon and then discussed the book for the first part of the virtual connection.

Mrs. Rogers' students took turns sharing what they've been learning in class. One student shared his creative writing story and another student shared his opinion writing piece on the benefits of having recess. Mrs. Dixon's students took notes of all the tips that were shared as they will also be working on writing their own opinion pieces.

Both classes took turns asking and answering questions, and expressed how much they enjoyed connecting and learning from students from different schools.

Seal of Biliteracy

February 25, 2021

Do you communicate in another language other than English? Are you enrolled in a world language course at STCE/SCN? If you answered yes to either of these questions, you may want to consider taking the Seal of Biliteracy exam.

Students who meet the state-approved proficiency level in speaking, listening, reading and writing, may receive the Seal of Biliteracy or Commendation distinction on their diploma and transcript. In addition, many colleges and universities accept the State Seal of Biliteracy as equivalent to two years of foreign language coursework taken in high school and may provide college credit.

Please visit the St. Charles East Website/North Website to find out more information about the test, the associated fee, and registration for the exam. The test will be administered on Saturday, April 10. The deadline for signing up is Wednesday, April 7th.

¿Te comunicas en otro idioma en casa? ¿Estás inscrito en un curso de idioma del mundo en STCE/SCN? ¿Te gustaría poner tu dominio de ese idioma a la prueba? Si tu respuesta es sí a alguna de estas preguntas, considera tomar el examen de alfabetización bilingüe.

Estudiantes que demuestren comprensión de discurso, comprensión auditiva, lectura y escritura, a un nivel aprobado por el estado podrán recibir el Sello de Alfabetización Bilingüe o un reconocimiento distinguido en su diploma y en su expediente académico. Además, varias universidades y colegios aceptan el Sello de Alfabetización como un equivalente de dos años de un curso de lenguaje extranjero tomado en la preparatoria y pueden proveer crédito universitario.

Visita la página de STCEast/STCNorth, para saber más información, cargos asociados, o para registrarte al examen. El examen será administrado el 10 de Abril. El último día para registrarse es el miércoles 7 de abril.
